

Point of Sale

Today's Point of Sale (POS) systems do much more than fire orders to the kitchen. O'Neal Consultants can help you understand whether enabling technologies for menu engineering, order paging, and customer relationship management functionality would provide a return on investment for your operation.

O'Neal Consultants' services include developing a POS Request for Proposal (RFP) and managing the procurement process, so that you have our expert supervision regarding proposal comparisons, contract documents, installation monitoring, and final inspection. In addition, O'Neal Consultants is available for existing systems reviews and consulting.
